

Ruling Party Keeps Control At Italian Polls

Christian Democrats Boost Strength but Short of Majority

Rome — (AP) — Italy's pro-western Christian democrats today boosted their parliamentary strength but once more fell short of a majority in the face of matching gains by leftist forces.

The Christian democrats appeared to have emerged from the nation-wide election Sunday and Monday strong enough to continue to govern Italy as they have since World War II. They will have to proceed cautiously in a coalition for lack of a majority.

The big losers in the national balloting appeared to be on the right — the monarchists and fascists.

The communists and fellow-traveling socialists gained after campaigning against installation of North Atlantic Treaty Organization bases in Italy. The re-gains showed they had overcome the setback they were believed to have suffered when Russia crushed the 1956 Hungarian uprising and Premier Khrushchev exposed Stalin's crimes.

Boost Percentages

With about 70 per cent of the vote counted for the lower house, the Christian democrats had won 42.7 per cent, compared with 40.1 per cent in the last election. The communist-socialist left was up from 35.2 in 1953 to 37.5. The monarchists dropped from 6.8 to 2.2 per cent, and the fascists from 5.9 to 4.4.

After all votes are tabulated, the 596 seats in the chamber will be allocated on system of proportional representation.

The final official results for the senate gave a 41.2 per cent vote for the Christian democrats compared with 40.7 in 1953. The communist-socialist left vote rose from 34.7 per cent to 35.9.

The interior ministry announced that the Christian democrats won 122 of the 246 senate seats at stake, just barely under a majority.

Wild Deer Leaves Trail Through City

A trail of blood and mounds of shattered plate glass mark the route a frightened doe took through two College avenue stores at about 11:15 this morning.

Leath's Furniture store shows the most damage since the deer already was wounded by its crash through two plate glass doors at the Kinney Shoe store on the north side of the street. It bounded across College avenue, crashed through the Leath window and leaped over new living room furniture in a window. The animal left by the back screen door without opening it, and disappeared in the direction of Lawrence street.

Clerks in Kinney's had little time for fright. When the animal came through the back door, they watched it run down the aisle and out of the front door. One clerk jumped on a customer's chair to get out of the way.

The deer was last seen swimming the river and it disappeared on Riverview Country club's course. Police were searching for it.

Tracing the animal by calls, police reported that it first appeared near Franklin school, came through City park (near N. Durkee and E. Franklin streets), passed the police station at N. Morrison and E. Washington streets, darted between the Appleton Club association and Conway Hotel buildings, then into Kinney's, into Leath's, through Soldier's square and into the river.

Lebanese Premier Makes Peace Bid

Beirut — (AP) — Premier Sami Solh made a bid today for peace with opposition parties demanding that pro-western President Camille Chamoun resign.

The premier said in a broadcast his government "will not present any bill to parliament for an amendment of the constitution."

This will rule out any chance that Chamoun will run for re-election. The constitution limits its presidents to a single term. The opposition national front, founded the Zetners' empty boat however, already had declared and a gasoline can after a motorist reported that a boat, with has brought bloodshed to this south of Seoul, near Chinchun. The women were on a Buddhist holiday outing.

De Gaulle Starting to Form New Government in France

Apparently Has Help of President and Premier; Pflimlin May Resign

Paris — (AP) — Premier Pierre Pflimlin today refused to step down so that Gen. Charles de Gaulle could form a government.

Pflimlin reached his decision after a cabinet meeting and two conferences with President Rene Coty.

A minister who attended the meeting said Pflimlin would make a statement to the national assembly in presenting a government motion which would pose a question of confidence.

Paris — (AP) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle today started forming a new French government. There were growing indications that he would have the assistance of President Rene Coty and Premier Pierre Pflimlin.

A high source at the president's Elysee palace, who would not be named, said the resignation of the Pflimlin cabinet could be expected tonight.

The same source said De Gaulle saw the premier during his mysterious visit to Paris last night. The two agreed on the formation of a new government, which would be headed by De Gaulle but include at least some of the ministers now in office.

The De Gaulle-Pflimlin meeting took place at the country estate of Defense Minister Pierre de Chevigne near La Celle-Saint Cloud, a few miles west of Paris.

Pflimlin Sees Coty — The two men quietly talked over the grave political situation France is facing as result of the virtual breakdown of the French generals in Algeria and the mounting clamor for the World War II hero to take over.

De Gaulle announced earlier in the day he was moving to take over the government. He urged the nation to remain calm.

De Gaulle promised quick contact with his supporters in Algeria, who precipitated France's gravest post-war crisis by seizing control of that vast North African territory in defiance of Paris.

But De Gaulle's arch foes, the communists, lashed out with a general strike that idled coal fields and factories. Paris suburban train service was halted.

Socialists called for a day of national protest. Non-communist unions ignored the strike call. Transportation inside Paris was about normal. Subways were running and only 40 of the city's 1,700 buses quit.

The national assembly was in recess after a morning of debate on Pflimlin's plan for strengthening the executive when the news of De Gaulle's statement arrived. Lobbies buzzed with the news.

The Elysee source said De Gaulle's statement that he had already started forming a government was issued ahead of time in order to avoid grave incidents which might have

Rayburn Backs Ike's Tax Stand

Agrees No Sharp
Reductions Can be Made This Year

Washington — (AP) — Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) said today he is "in full accord" with President Eisenhower's recommendation against substantial tax reductions this year.

Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.), chairman of the tax-writing house ways and means committee, concurred in Rayburn's statement at a joint news conference.

Mills said his committee will start consideration tomorrow of a bill to continue corporate and excise tax rates at their present levels.

Seek Excise Tax Cut — These rates are scheduled under existing law to drop automatically on July 1. Eisenhower has asked congress to continue them to prevent an estimated $3 billion drop in revenues.

A number of members of congress have said they will seek a reduction in the excise tax on automobiles, whose sales have been lagging.

A bill to extend the present corporation and excise rates is expected to reach the house floor early in June.

Rayburn said he has not been in favor of a general decrease in taxes at this time. He said both he and Mills were "in accord with the statement (from the president) that there will be no further recommendations for tax reductions this year."

"I have never thought that a tax reduction would be very poor in stopping a recession," Rayburn said. He added he could not comment on whether the recession is tapering off.

Cardinal Stritch's Body to be Flown to Chicago for Burial

Funeral Mass to be Celebrated
Thursday in St. Ignatius, Rome

Rome — (AP) — The body of Samuel Cardinal Stritch lay in state today at the pontifical college where Americans study for the priesthood.

The 70-year-old archbishop of Chicago died early today at Rome's Sanatrix clinic. He had been confined there with circulatory ailments since he arrived in Rome April 25 to assume the high post given him by Pope Pius XII.

The cardinal's body will remain at the North American Pontifical college until tomorrow night. Then it will be taken to Rome's St. Ignatius church. A funeral mass will be celebrated there Thursday and the body will be flown home to Chicago for burial.

The funeral mass will be celebrated by Bishop Martin John O'Connor of Scranton, Pa., the rector of the pontifical college.

Cardinals Give Absolution — All cardinals in Rome will pass before the body and each give his absolution. The last to do so will be Eugene Cardinal Tisserant, French-born dean of the college of cardinals who will give absolution in the name of the pope.

The prelate's body was brought to the college early today and embalmed in the presence of Dr. Ralph Bergen of Chicago, his personal physician.

The cardinal died before he had a chance to take up his duties as pro-prefect of the Vatican's Congregation for Propagation of the Faith. He was the only native American ever named to the Vatican curia, the church's highest administrative body.

The prelate was stricken first with a blood clot in his right arm while en route to Italy to take up his Vatican post. Three days later the arm was amputated to eliminate danger of gangrene.

Eight days ago, while apparently recovering rapidly, he suffered a severe stroke. He

Truce Chief Is Shot to Death

Israel and Jordan
Blame Each Other
For Border Incident

Jerusalem — (AP) — Israel and Jordan each blamed the other today for the death of Canadian truce chief

Lt. Col. George Flint, killed in a cross fire while trying to arrange a truce between battling units of the two nations.

Flint's own chief of staff said it could not be determined which side fired the bullet that felled the head of the Israel-Jordan mixed armistice commission on Mt. Scopus in Old Jerusalem yesterday. Four Israelis also were killed on the Jordan-surrounded Israeli enclave adjoining the Mount of Olives.

The death of the 47-year-old veteran of World War II and the Korean war brought expressions of sympathy from Jordan's King Hussein, U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld and the Israeli government.

With Jordan Patrol — Flint had accompanied a Jordan patrol to investigate rifle fire on Mt. Scopus. Stepping out in front of the Jordan patrol, he was hit as he sought to stop the fire exchange to permit removal of four wounded Israeli guards.

Flint could not be rescued in the heavy crossfire that continued and died before aid reached him. One Israeli officer and three soldiers also were killed in the exchange. It was the gravest Israel-Jordan border incident in months. No Jordan casualties were reported.

Flint was the 13th U.N. representative killed in Arab-Israeli fighting since the Palestine war broke out 10 years ago. Most prominent was Count Folke Bernadotte, Swedish U.N. mediator assassinated by Zionist fanatics in Jerusalem in September, 1948.

Canco Board Sees Optimistic Future

Directors Meet in Neenah First Time Since Acquiring Marathon

Neenah — Confidence in the prospects for future growth of American Can company's Marathon division was expressed by William C. Stolk, the firm's president and chief executive officer, during a monthly meeting of the Canco board of directors here today.

After viewing manufacturing operations and office facilities in Neenah-Menasha and other areas where Marathon operates, he also voiced an unqualified endorsement of the division's production facilities and paper industry know-how.

Held in a completed section of the new general office building, Marathon is scheduled to occupy this summer, the meeting afforded Canco directors their first unified opportunity to inspect the division's operations since Marathon corporation was acquired by American Can company last December.

Attend Meeting — Activities during a day-long program arranged by Roy J. rea, Sund, vice president and general manager of the Marathon division, included visits to plants for foreign battlefields, was given a sailor's burial in the guided missile cruiser Boston yesterday after a final sea service was made during a rendezvous off the Virginia capes.

Bronze Caskets of Heroes to be Entombed at Memorial Day Rites

BY ELTON C. FAY

Washington — (AP) — A grim, gray warship threaded its way up the Potomac river today, turning the bodies of two unknown fighting men to the country for which they died.

In twin bronze caskets, the two will be buried in Arlington National cemetery Friday to symbolize all the nameless dead of World War II and Korea.

Memorial Day Rites — A third, brought with them yesterday. The man from Europe was aboard the Blandy. Aboard the guided missile cruiser Boston were the bodies of the Pacific World War II dead and the man who died in Korea.

In the rain, on the grey swells of the Atlantic off Cape Henry, Va., all three bodies were transferred to the missile cruiser Canberra. Then, in solemn ceremony, they were lowered into the sea. Tomorrow morning the two caskets will be removed to the capitol. There-they will lie in state, in the place reserved by custom for presidents and other famous men who have died. And on Friday, Memorial day, they will be entombed in Arlington close by the unknown soldier of the first World War.

The three men — one from Korea, one from the European North African battlefields of World War II, the other from the Pacific theater of that war — came to the seaward approaches of their homeland at shelf.

Burial at Sea — There was the last scene of the yesterday's drama.

Six bearers brought the flag-covered pallet to the slanted platform on the afterdeck of the Canberra. Chaplains, in their vestments, said the prayers of four faiths.

The bearers tilted the platform from under the covering flag and the shrouded body, weighted to carry it down, drifted back from the stern of the Canberra, to mark the identical caskets of the two spot briefly on the quiet sea.

William R. Charette, a Navy corpsman from Ludington, Mich., leans over to place a wreath at the casket of an unknown serviceman from World War II as he singles the casket out for burial at Arlington National cemetery on Memorial day. The selection was made aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Canberra standing off the Virginia capes. Other caskets contain unknowns from World War II, left, and Korea, center. Mexican Stars Staying Away From TV Roles

Mexico City —P— As Mexico's television industry and audiences mushroom, the nation's top stars are turning away from TV.

Dolores Del Rio and Maria Felix refuse to appear. At home, others hold back for "better roles."

What they mean is more pesos.

When Mexico was the first Latin-American nation to introduce television, stars flocked to appear. There were few receiving sets, but stars usually worked free to be on the new medium. There was novelty, prestige.

But TV is no longer novel. Actors want cash. They get little even by Mexican standards.

The Mexican movie picture industry is large. Mexico is the world's largest producer of Spanish-language films. Stars draw huge salaries.

TV is growing rapidly but so far isn't making big money. It can't compete with the movies. So stars are holding back, fearing if they accept low pay now, it may be hard to boost the average later.

Nevertheless, Mexico's television offers some top shows. But stars appear mainly in skits or personal appearances, not in the main shows.

Animals Benefit

Norfolk, Va. —P— Miss Sallie Louise Beaman's will left four acres of land to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with a few restrictions. It must look after a cemetery on the property, take care of her dogs and use the property as a shelter for animals. And $5,400 was left to care for her dogs.

State Optimistic About Vacationers

Tourists May Set Record Year Despite Recession, Reports Say

BY ROGER BLOBAUM

Madison —P— The recession apparently is having little effect on Wisconsin's 490-million-dollar tourist business.

In fact, it may turn out to be a blessing in disguise for the men and women who cater to vacationists.

That is the opinion of people whose duty is to publicize Wisconsin and its attractions.

It is their view that tourists from Chicagoland and from other midwestern areas appear to be considering vacations closer to home this year in order to stretch the family budget—and many are planning to come to Wisconsin instead of taking longer trips.

The optimistic outlook for Wisconsin is shared by J. H. H. Alexander, director of the State Conservation department's advertising and publicity program; Jack Olson, Wisconsin Dells tourist promoter; the Wisconsin division of the American Automobile association; and the State Chamber of Commerce.

Begins Soon

The vacation period usually gets underway on Memorial day. This year the holiday falls on Friday and will give tourists an opportunity for a long weekend to start their trips.

Requests for information about Wisconsin's attractions, however, have been coming in fast for several weeks, spokesmen for the various agencies report.

Alexander's office received 29,700 vacation inquiries in April last year. Inquiries at the Wisconsin vacation center in Chicago are running double those of a year ago.

Inquiries were coming so fast that Alexander had to get emergency funds from the Conservation commission last week for immediate printing of an additional 100,000 copies of "Your Family Guide to Wonderful Wisconsin."

"The way it looks now, Alexander said, "Wisconsin will be pretty lucky and have a fine year — unless of course something happens that will seriously change the world situation."

More at Dells

Tourist inquiries at the Wisconsin Dells Chamber of Commerce are running about 20 percent ahead of last year. Jack Olson, who heads the Dells Chamber Vacation committee, said about 36,000 inquiries are expected. This compares with 29,000 last season.

"There isn't any recession in the recreation business," Olson said. "People are recreation minded and they are going to travel."

Olson said Minnesota's centennial year celebration will draw many tourists through Wisconsin.

The bridge across Michigan's Mackinac Straits, he added, has set up a circular tour possibility that many eastern vacationers will try. The route cuts across eastern Wisconsin in its circling of Lake Michigan. The AAA in several eastern cities reports considerable interest in the new route, he said.

Florida's cold spell last winter forced many vacation post-

Danger at the Zoo . . .

Twice within the last week tragedy has struck children visiting zoos. In Washington, D. C., a little girl wandered too near the lion cage, was dragged into the cage by a lion and killed. In Racine, Wis., a similar event occurred: this time the little girl who tried to pet a bear escaped with her life but was severely mauled and may lose an arm.

Obviously something was wrong with the safety precautions at both these zoos, otherwise the children could not have gotten so near the animals. It was simply a tragic coincidence, of course, that the two incidents took place within a week of one another, yet that coincidence has alerted the public to a danger that probably has

. . . And in the Air

Gruesome coincidence has focused the public's attention on another growing danger — that of collisions in the air. Twice within the last month military training planes have crashed into civilian airliners, resulting in the deaths of all aboard the airliners in both cases. This danger, unlike that in the zoos, has not been unpublicized — a good many authorities both civilian and military have been pointing out for several years the danger of air crashes as our skies become more and more crowded with aircraft.

President Eisenhower moved quickly, after the last crash, to keep military planes out of the civilian airways, which we hope will suffice as an emergency measure. He also ordered a long-range study of the problem, recognizing that simply telling military craft to stay away from the airplanes

The Alaska Statehood Bill

The House is scheduled to vote Wednesday on the admission of Alaska as a state. Rep. McCormack (D-Mass) says the House will pass the statehood bill but it will be by a close vote. Fred A. Seaton, secretary of the interior, is confident that the bill will be passed by both houses at this session.

This bill, which was tied up in committee for many months by its opponents, appears now to have a chance of passage. What could be the reason? Every bill that comes up in Congress these days finds someone attempting to show its relation to the universal effort to overcome the recession. The Alaska statehood bill is no exception.

In recent weeks it has been pointed out that on each of the 35 times in the history of the nation that a new state has been added, the economy has been distinctly benefited. It is not difficult to imagine that the granting of statehood to Alaska would result in a tremendous development in that area. There are vast undeveloped resources in the 586,400 square miles of the territory. It is slightly more than twice the size of Texas and no one knows or will know for some time how it eventually will compare with Texas in wealth.

It cannot be denied that the opening up of this vast new territory by granting statehood to it could have a tremendous impact

Farming in the Future

The farmer is still dependent on the weather and when the weather goes against him it may be widely felt by those who rely on the farmers in the particular area affected. When freezing weather hit the southeast area of the nation and damaged winter-grown fruits and vegetables, the cost of such foods jumped in price. This was reflected in cost of living indexes: thus that the economy of the entire nation was affected.

Dr. K. Starr Chester chairman of the research committee of the Council for Agricultural and Chemurgic Research, says that some time in the future we will not be troubled by such agricultural uncertainties. He believes that farms in the future will be fewer and larger. It may not be uncommon for a farm to be a million dollar industry, he says. The larger investment will make it possible for greater mechanization

Editorial Clarification

An editorial in Friday's Post-Crescent criticized conducting public business behind closed doors and mentioned two instances in which attempts were made to bar Post-Crescent reporters from discussions. One incident occurred at a meeting of the park board, an Appleton alderman and

Farm Picture Better; Benson Stock Up

From The Chicago Sun-Times

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has received several invitations from Midwestern Republicans to help them in their election campaign this summer and fall. He let this be known at a news conference in the Chicago Press club a few days ago.

Benson's new popularity in his own party is in marked contrast to the grumblings against him that have been going on for several years. A look at the brighter farm picture that is developing provides one possible answer. Farm income is up—and if Benson can't take credit, at least his critics been lurking for some time although no one knew it was there.

Certainly we hope these incidents have caused all the nation's zoo directors — and all municipal officials of cities that have zoos — to scurry about checking the safety precautions at their establishments. We suppose there is a constant temptation to let down on safety standards so that people can get a better view of the animals: but the recent tragedies should remind us that a situation should never be created whereby a youngster can possibly wander too near the beasts even if that means interfering somewhat with the view provided zoo visitors.

used by civilian planes will not be enough in the long run.

The number of airplanes, both civilian and military, in this country has been increasing rapidly year after year, and it is obvious that we are entering an era in which the traffic problem in the skies some day may rival the one we have now on our highways. At first glance one would think that this new problem would be less difficult to solve since we have three dimensions to work with instead of only two; but the speed with which an airplane travels, plus the fact that the percentage of fatalities is much higher in air crashes than in highway accidents, make the problem a difficult one. It is going to take both imagination and determination to work out some system of air traffic control that will prevent these terrible accidents from taking place.

on the economy of the nation. Of more immediate effect is the change that such a law would bring to the territory itself. The Alaskans are now complaining that bungling by bureaucrats in Washington is ruining their salmon fishing industry. It is pointed out that 20 years ago the Alaskan waters were yielding 6.5 million cases of salmon a year while at present there is great difficulty in getting 2.5 million cases a year.

The 15,000 Alaskans who depend on the fishing industry and live in Alaska the year round blame much of the industry's troubles on the 10,000 fishermen and cannery men who go to Alaska in May and return to the states in the fall with their wages. Most of them are not interested in Alaska or its future, the Alaskans say, but merely in getting all they can out of their summer jobs. Down as it is, the fishing industry has a product valued at $68 millions per year and it puts about $20 millions into the pockets of the Alaskans. It is necessary, the Alaskans claim, to get local control of the government to outlaw the fish trap which is said to be depleting the salmon. Such traps are outlawed in every state in the union, they say, but not in Alaska.

As a matter of fairness and justice, and for the benefit it will bring to the territory, and for the possibilities of aiding the nation's economy, statehood should be granted now.

and for specialization in the departments of production, sales, maintenance and research.

By A. D. 2000 the use of atomic power may make it possible to have great areas of swamps drained, and large deserts irrigated by fresh water extracted from the sea. Furthermore he says the earth satellites will enable us to learn of weather to come long periods in advance and to plan farm operations accordingly. Frost damage could be prevented by the use of infrared lamps or electromagnetic radiation, and the air conditioning of buildings could provide the most favorable conditions for livestock the year round.

Obviously the sure thing pictured will attract capital so that large corporation-operated farms will be possible. In the meantime we will have to struggle along remembering such important facts as thunder as a sign of rain.

All park board sessions are open to the public, he said. Jones, as a matter of fact, successfully resisted the effort to have the press excluded from this meeting.

Last month farm income continued to rise for the sixth straight month. It is up 14 per cent over last October. Farm employment is up higher than usual for this time of the year. According to the National Industrial Conference board, farmers have evidently increased their equipment purchases early this year while industry as a whole, because of the recession, has been cutting back on outlays for plant and equipment. One large farm equipment company says its sales for the past six months are 5 per cent better than for the same period last year.

The Long Road Home

These Days

Nationalistic Urge Is Major Seat Of Crisis in Middle Eastern Lands

BY GEORGE SOKOLSKY

It has become very fashionable to try to frighten the American people into believing that if they do not do this and so, a country will rush into the arms of Soviet Russia. The logic of it seems to be that if we do not obey the dictates of each harum-scarum little politician who emerges, he will send an invitation to Khrushchev to underwrite him.

That is what I get out of a statement issued by Harold B. Minor, president, American Friends of the Middle East, Inc. He starts off with these sentences:

"The American position in the middle east has declined alarmingly in the last decade. Unless this decline is arrested, there is grave danger that American influence in that part of the world will be eliminated within a relatively short period of time. The result will be a drift, negative and unwanted by the peoples of the area, towards Soviet influence . . ."

No Such Drift

There has been no such drift in the middle east. What has taken place is an important, historical nationalist revolutionary movement which started as an Arab effort to free those countries from Turkish rule, culminating, in its first phase, in the defeat and breakup of the Turkish empire during World War I.

The second phase of this movement was the emergence of Kemal in Turkey and of the Hashimites in the Arabic countries, the organization of the mandated areas, including Syria, Lebanon, Palestine, Transjordan, the establishment of a Jewish homeland in Palestine under the Balfour declaration. This period ended in a struggle between Nazi Germany and the allies for control of the area during World War II.

World War II produced an intensification of nationalism in the middle east. At least five extraneous factors played a role in stimulating the Arab nationalist movement which had been more or less dormant for centuries. One was the American supported missionary schools which had played an enormous part in developing a modern intellectual class in Arab countries, particularly in Lebanon and Syria.

Israel as Target

Another has been in the "competition" during World War II between the Nazis and the allies for Arab friendship and support. It was President Roosevelt, for instance, who gave comfort

Ground Broken for New Church

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent, for the week of May 31, 1879.

Quite a number of Appleton citizens were present at the site of the new Presbyterian Church for the purpose of locating the College avenue and Drew street fronts of the elegant edifice, on which work has now commenced.

After comparing notes, it was the unanimity of sentiment that the Avenue front should be 15 feet from the sidewalk and the Drew street side the same distance from the walk. Then Mr.

and some financial assistance to the Arab league.

On the other hand, the establishment of Israel as an independent state by authority of the United Nations created a western enclave in the middle east which set standards of life so far beyond anything among Arab nations that Israel became a target of envy and opposition. Furthermore, the question of Arab refugees, which might have been solved by statesmanship, was used on all sides as a stimulant for disorder and disaster.

Soviet Russia moved upon the middle east from several directions. It stimulated every anti-western movement almost to the point of fomenting a holy war. Local political leaders took advantage of Soviet activity in their own interest. Thus the Arab world divided into two distinct groups of nations: those who supported the west; those who were willing to follow Soviet Russia.

The leader of the pro-Soviet Arabs is Nasser, the

Cooper Moves Fast in Democratic Circles

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Political pot-pourri:

Has any political professional ever started a career as casually as Eugene Cooper, the new executive secretary of the Democratic party of Wisconsin and manager of its state capitol office?

A couple of months ago Cooper was working quietly in his staff job with the Easter Seal society, when he saw an ad in the newspapers announcing that the Democrats wanted candidates for the position of finance director — a fancy title for the job of soliciting money from partisan well-wishers for the Democratic treasury. He applied, was accepted. Hardly had he sat down when there was a vacancy in the office managership, which Party Chairman Patrick Lucey now announces Cooper will fill.

dictator of Egypt, a fiercely ambitious politician who seeks to establish a third power of enormous population and bargaining ability between the United States and its allies and Soviet Russia and its satellites.

Into Orbit

Nasser has succeeded in bringing Syria and Yemen into his orbit. He is now attempting to conquer Lebanon by civil war. Given the opportunity, he would form an Arab state from the Atlantic to Pakistan with himself at its head.

Minor suggests we "should look at the middle east problem through American eyes and in the light of the American national interest . . ." This is an excellent suggestion but what are "American eyes?" Are they the eyes of those Americans who distrust an upstart dictator, having witnessed the historic results of Mussolini and Hitler, or are they the eyes of the management of an oil company that worries about endangered properties, or are they the eyes of a secretary of state who labors eternally to keep his country out of war, yet with dignity and honor?

Whose "American eyes" are we to look through?

Certainly it is not possible to trust to the judgment of Harold B. Minor who speaks well of the one he calls President Nasser. Must we always pay blackmail? (Copyright 1958)

Killing Time Is Suicide for Old

BY JOSEPH H. PECK, M.D.
(Condensed from the book, "All About Men," (C) 1958 by Prentice-Hall, Inc.)

Man's great trouble, when he thinks of retiring, is the boy within him.

He regards the coming change just as he did a summer vacation — all swimming, loafing and eating watermelons. Insurance people have encouraged this dream by calling his retreat from active life "The Golden Years of Retirement."

You must plan to work at something in retirement, of course, for killing time is not murder, but suicide.

At the age of 55, you have ten years in which to plan. Spend your vacations checking the activities favored by your horoscope. If farming seems to be your Shangri-La, go to the country and ask a farmer to let you milk a few cows. In two weeks you'll learn whether you have a way with animals.

If you dream of a life of fishing, drop a hook for two weeks straight, with no time off because of bugs or bad weather, and eat the mud-cats, gars and turtles you catch. Then imagine how 15 years of this will affect you.

Want to be a writer? Leave your family and rent a room in a strange neighborhood. Write for several hours a day, and mail your best effort (with return postage) to a good magazine.

You Can Always Try

No matter what you want, try it. The only thing I know of that an old man definitely cannot do is toot a horn in a band. His dentures drop down when he puffs out his cheeks.

Take it slow and easy, for the ladder of life is full of splinters, and they hurt most when you're sliding down.

You will reach the river in time, but most of us, like the Missouri farmer at a camp meeting, are in no hurry. During the services a laborer in the vineyard placed her hand on his shoulder, and in the voice of a cooing dove, said: "My dear man, don't you want to see Jesus?"

"Not tonight," the old man said, "Not tonight, sister."

Take your aging body to a clinic and have a complete checkup. Not a once-over-lightly, but the works. The examination should begin at the tip of your toes.

As a man grows old, his toenails begin to thicken, and if they tend to grow down into the flesh on the sides, there will be trouble unless you stuff cotton under the edges and train them to grow flat. Corns and callouses should be treated by corrective footwear; many a diabetic old man has died because he clipped his corns with a razor blade and developed gangrene.

If your job required a lot of standing on your feet, watch for enlarged veins and get supportive stockings before they cause ulcers.

Old Ulcers Do Die

Watch out for a hernia, and if the wall of your groin shows weakness, have it repaired while you are still on the payroll so the hospital fund will pay for it. The same goes for hemorrhoids.

If you have a spare tire around your middle, eat less fat and sweets and exercise daily to melt it off. Don't worry about your old ulcer. It's good insurance, because a man who grows about his stomach all his life seldom gets a cancer there, and ulcers tend to fade along with the frustrations of employment.

Pray that your gallstones won't decide to travel, and treat your liver kindly by chopping a hole in your wife's frying pan.

An eye man should look over your eyes for opacities, cataracts and the condition of the blood vessels. Watch every skin blemish; brown spots will surely come, but if they are taken in moderation. For some much rougher than the rest of your face, or there is a sore on the lip or inside the mouth that takes longer to heal than the usual "cold sore," see your physician pronto.

The older you get, the slower you must turn and get up and down to avoid nasty falls. Drive your car 10 miles slower than your former average speed and you will dent your fenders about as often as usual.

I'm not going to hand down any commandments about guzzling. The Mormons are a healthy people, and they drink neither tea, coffee nor alcoholic beverages. But there is no harm in any of these things if surely come, but if they are taken in moderation. For some much rougher than the rest of your face, or there is a sore on the lip or inside the mouth that takes longer to heal than the usual "cold sore," see your physician pronto.

There are few preventable diseases of old age that cannot be cured by a brisk walk, a good book or a dish of prunes, and if you worry too much, you spend on doctors and medicine money that should be used for your wife's entertainment.

Plan Fight to Extend Jobless
Law Benefits

But Supporters of Emergency Bill Say
They Can Pass It Now

Washington — A bipartisan senate group planned a fight today to broaden legislation to extend unemployment benefits. But supporters of an emergency bill said they have the votes to pass it without change.

A final vote on the anti-recession measure was possible today, but there was some sentiment as debate began to wait until tomorrow for a vote.

The emergency bill, already passed by the house, follows closely Eisenhower administration recommendations in this field.

Strengthen Bill

A drive to strengthen the bill was announced by a group of northern Democrats led by Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) and Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.). They were joined by some Republicans from industrial states.

Douglas and Kennedy prepared amendments that would both broaden the temporary features of the bill and write in higher permanent standards for jobless payments. Such payments now vary in duration and amount under state laws.

The group favoring a stronger bill contended the house-passed measure would provide no help for many jobless workers who have exhausted their unemployment compensation payments.

A controversial feature of the bill would make the temporary program optional with the states. This was a departure from administration recommendations.

Would Pass Bill

Douglas and Kennedy said most states have reported their legislatures would have to take broken out with the news of Pflimlin's resignation.

De Gaulle has always insisted he would only take power legally and that when the proper moment came he would speak to the right man. Action before they could participate in the program.

However, senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California predicted the senate would pass the bill as it came from the senate finance committee.

"I believe there is substantial support for the bill on both sides as it is," Knowland said. "It meets the immediate needs."

"If there are to be permanent changes in the law, these should be studied more thoroughly in committee."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the finance committee, also said he understood there were sufficient votes to defeat amendments.

Cardinal's Body
To be Returned

had lost ground steadily since then.

His last act before death was to kiss a small crucifix he kept with him throughout the last week of crisis.

At the end of the cardinal's bedside was surrounded by close associates and relatives including two nephews, the Rev. Morris Stritch of Memphis, Tenn., and Robert Emmett Stritch of Chicago.

Pope Pius was one of the first notified of the cardinal's death. He gave his approval for funeral and burial plans in accordance with canon law. Cardinal Stritch had asked that his body be returned to Chicago.

The cardinal's death brought to 15 the vacancies in the college of cardinals. The full complement is 70.

Born in Nashville

In Yugoslavia Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac was reported in critical condition. He is suffering from a blood disease complicated by bronchial pneumonia, a weakened heart and a blood clot in his leg.

Cardinal Stritch was born Aug. 27, 1887, in Nashville, Tenn. After studies in Cincinnati and Rome, he was ordained a priest at 22. A special the popular republican movement (MRP)—went into caucus.

Aide on Trips

One of Pflimlin's top aides, Michel Poniatowski, left the premier's residence several times during the night and sped off with a police escort to an unknown destination. His movements coincided roughly with the four hours or so that De Gaulle was in Paris.

De Gaulle is 67. He dropped out of French political life in 1946 disdaining of the nation's political system. He stepped into France's blackest crises two weeks ago when he came to Paris to announce that he was willing to take over the reins of government—but on his own terms. Then he returned to his country home to await the call.

All along the communists have threatened to tie up the country with strikes if De Gaulle came to power.

Before De Gaulle's announcement, the national assembly went into session for what had been considered a last ditch effort to shore up the Pflimlin government. The assembly began and then adjourned an urgent debate on constitutional revisions aimed at strengthening the feeble executive system in an effort to keep De Gaulle from taking power.

France seemed stunned at the news De Gaulle was planning to take over. There was jubilation in Algiers.

When De Gaulle made his surprise announcement a large part of France was already at a standstill on communist orders.

I expect the land, sea and air forces in Algeria to remain exemplary under the orders of their chiefs—Gen. (Raoul) Salan, Adm. (Philippe) Auboin, Gen. Edmond Jouhaud.

De Gaulle expressed his confidence in those military chiefs and added that he would make immediate contact with them.

The military chiefs in Algeria first launched the move to bring De Gaulle to power.

No Official Word

It was not immediately clear whether the World War II hero had been asked by President Coty to form a government.

A spokesman at the presidential palace said he was not aware that Coty had asked De Gaulle to step in, but he added that could have been done by telephone.

Politicians Meet

De Gaulle slipped into Paris last night and presumably set the takeover machinery in motion. He spent four hours in Paris, then returned to his home near Metz.

In the wake of De Gaulle's statement communist and non-communist leaders met together and decided to make immediate joint contact with the government.

Believes Jakarta Will Find Celebes 'Tough Nut to Crack'

Indonesian Rebellion May be Won On Fighting Spirit, Observer Says

BY JUSTIN K. B. FULLER
Written for the Associated Press

The fighting which erupted on central Sumatra in the Indonesian rebellion foreshadowed government moves against the north Celebes. The Sumatran insurgents were quickly routed. But I believe Jakarta will find the Celebes a tougher nut to crack.

I hadn't expected civil war when I arrived last October at Manado, Minahasa province, in the north Celebes. I had come to teach anthropology in Tondano Teachers College.

Almost immediately after starting at Tondano, I began commuting 30 miles a day to teach also at Permesta university, established by the Indonesian rebel Permesta (All Together) party at Manado.

In those earlier, placid days of the rebellion nobody seemed to mind I was working both sides of the educational street. The central government at Jakarta, which had hired me for the Tondano post, actually granted me permission to work at Permesta university.

It was at Permesta university that I met and grew to understand the ideals and aspirations of the North Celebes rebels, who want the reestablishment of the United States of Indonesia which President Sukarno abolished and replaced with a centralized republic seven years ago.

Popular reaction was swift and violent. Shock gave way to anger. A soldier tore a portrait of President Sukarno from the wall of a bombed building and smashed it with his rifle. "How could the president order the bombing of his own people?" he shouted. "He is no longer our president."

Complete Surprise

The first government attack at Manado came as a complete surprise Feb. 22. Not a shot was fired at the attacking Permesta proclamation planes. They made three scheduled bombings, called off, but unscheduled fireworks were provided by central government bombers which returned to work over the airfield.

But instead of emphasizing this genuine grievance against the Jakarta government, the Sumatran rebel leaders stress-

(This exclusive story by a California professor who taught in Indonesia is the first eyewitness report on the north Celebes revolt. Probing far behind the confusing facade of the strife-torn republic, he explains from first-hand experience what the rebellion is all about, what the insurgents are fighting against — and for.)

ed the communist menace. This, though real enough in Java, seemed to the Sumatrans a rather vague and distant threat.

Not so in the Celebes. There the powerful sentiment of anti-communism is combined with a strong — and clearly enunciated — sense of dissatisfaction with Jakarta.

The Permesta movement was proclaimed March 2, 1957, by Col. Ventje Sumual, military commander of east Indonesia. It became a popular cause in many ways.

For the workers of the north Celebes it has meant more jobs and higher wages, partly the result of the province's trade with Singapore. For the people in general—60 per cent of whom are Protestant and 40 Roman Catholic—it took on the aspect of a Christian revival movement.

Catholic Church

A young Minahasan Catholic priest named his new church the "permesta church" because "it would never have been possible without the permesta movement." The new administration has contributed funds to both Catholic and Protestant churches and schools. Clergymen were appointed lecturers to the newly founded Permesta university set up in Manado with Permesta money.

Conversely, one of the first jobs of the permesta movement was to clean up the local communists. Some 30 red leaders were arrested and lodged in the military stockade. Communist party headquarters was converted into an army barracks.

Although a new province was created, with a civilian governor of the Celebes to replace the old Jakarta control from Makassar 800 miles to the south, the real power of the permesta government was in the hands of the military. Until the start of the revolution in Sumatra Jakarta gave tacit recognition to the state of affairs and kept all the military officers on the regular army payroll.

No Dictatorship

But while the army officers represent the authority behind the government, there is no atmosphere of military dictatorship. The people are not oppressed by taxes, since the regime derives its funds from a system of taxing plantation owners. With overwhelming popular support, the army has not found it necessary to limit freedom of speech, press, or assembly—except for communist party members.

Besides a strong military spirit, in fact, the Minahasans have strong Democratic traditions.

The North Celebes is the only part of Indonesia which voluntarily joined the Dutch—it was never conquered. And after the Minahasans had accepted Dutch sovereignty in the 17th century, they helped form the backbone of the Dutch colonial forces.

Disputes in Minahasan village and towns are settled by public discussions, officials are elected and problems aired in "town meetings." Perhaps because they are a racial, religious and linguistic minority (they speak Philippine languages) the Minahasans have never taken kindly to any form of discrimination.

Unlike the Javanese, they feel no rancor against the local Chinese community, and there has been considerable intermarriage with Indonesian Chinese. The wife of Col. Sumual, military commander of east Indonesia, is from a local Chinese family.

Direct Trade

In contrast to the communist-inspired seizures of Dutch firms which were ordered by the central government in Java, the policy of the Permesta government has been to allow all foreign firms, including the old Dutch trading companies, to continue operations. The opening of direct trade with Singapore has meant a great boost for the North Celebes economy.

An Australian garage owner told me that during the single year of the permesta movement his business increased 7-fold over the period of economic stagnation preceding the permesta proclamation March 2.

Wages have gone up correspondingly. Road workers had their wages increased 3-fold; coconut plantation workers have been making twice as much as before. Prices, at least before the central government blockade, were kept down as part of permesta policy. The standard of living rose; motor scooters converted into miniature taxis have replaced horse-drawn carts as standard public conveyances.

Spirit of Movement

I was struck by a prevailing spirit of enthusiasm which often approaches rowdy hilarity. Road workers yell and sing and

Mayor Thinks Fox Cities Ought to Keep Extension

Space Problem in Menasha One for All Municipalities, Mitchell Tells Lions

Keeping the university extension center in the Fox Cities is a project worthy of undertaking by all Fox Cities municipalities. Mayor Clarence A. Mitchell told the Lions club Monday noon.

"The extension center," Mitchell said, "is a great asset. Team effort on this project will rebound to the benefit of the people of the Fox Cities by affording opportunities for mountain sides. Trucks rumble by crowded with workers singing, shouting, and waving. Soldiers amble about with hand grenades hanging from their belts and submachine guns slung over their shoulders, eager to pose for photographs. Girls in khaki pants and shirts and jungle boots ride motorcycles as messengers for the army.

At the final faculty meeting of Permesta university in Manado, Maj Korompis, an army lawyer who is both acting chief of police and chairman of the university, said a farewell to foreign lecturers which summarized the spirit of his movement.

"Tomorrow we're moving the campus temporarily away from the beach and into the hills," he said. "Many of our students already have enlisted. Perhaps I won't have the chance to talk to you again, and perhaps you're wondering just what the fighting is about."

"It's like this: We must have a federal system in Indonesia. We're not a bunch of adventurers fighting for money or to avoid paying taxes. We believe in Indonesia and in support for the central government, but not for a central government which is composed partly of communists, partly of leaders who take our taxes but neglect our country."

university training here at home."

The mayor also called for Fox Cities-wide planning to produce such things as a well coordinated traffic program and air and rail travel facilities.

The extension center was pushed from Menasha High school a year ago when the facility became overcrowded. This school year it is in a private building on Menasha's Main street. Menasha city officials are seeking a better solution and some assistance by neighboring municipalities to defray costs of a new location.

Lands School Program Mitchell, in a talk he titled "The Scope and Magnitude of Our City Government," listed the recently drafted school construction plan and the industrial development movement now underway as events meeting the long-range planning need.

The school construction program, drafted by a special board of education committee, gives the city its first long-range school program, Mitchell said. "It will help us to plan in a sounder and more orderly manner for our future educational needs," he said.

"Industrial development," said Mitchell, "is being given great emphasis, thanks to the chamber of commerce and to our civic leaders who recently formed an industrial development committee. . . . The purchase of an industrial park site is certainly a tremendous step toward developing sound future industrial progress for our city."

Mitchell gave these statistics in talking of the city government's scope: The city has about 6,000 to which is composed partly of tal acres in an area of about 9½ square miles. The population is about 46,000, more than double the 19,561 of 1920. The population has increased by 35 per cent in the last seven years alone. Total property assessment equals about $107 million, indicating a total real worth of more than $200 million. Appleton's city budget this year is $5,270,000, more than a half million more than 1957's budget. Income from state funds this year will equal about $1,780,000. The tax roll will produce about $4,128,000, of which about $800,000 goes for county and state taxes. There are about 200 acres of park land. The 13,000,000-gallon water plant has an average daily pumpage of 4,967,000 gallons.

Bonded Debt

"I think (the bonded debt of $8,534,000) is something our people ought to know," said Mitchell. Certainly we, in government, must be conscious of our obligations. . . . They must be paid out of future revenues, a part of which will be set aside to retire such indebtedness. . . . It is proper that the investment in such plant facilities is not charged in any one year. An equitable portion must be allocated to future users who will be receiving the benefits."

Mitchell lauded the school system because it "aspires to meet the child's needs to the fullest extent possible, whether he be slow, average or gifted. Each child has his own growth patterns and our educational program is adapted to most fully utilize the individual's abilities."

The mayor predicts a school population of 20,090 within 10 601 W. College Phone RE 3-5645

School Board Holds Schubert Sees Up on Park Request Water as Sales Wants Detailed Explanation From Point for State Roosevelt Junior High Principal

The Appleton school board Monday night in effect withdrew its action to seek a meeting with the city council and park board to discuss obtaining part of Erb park for school use until it gets a more explicit explanation from Roosevelt Junior High school Principal Neil Lunenschloss.

The board last week authorized Supt. of Schools John P. Mann to seek such a meeting. Mann said Monday night he was unaware of the full intent of the plan requested by Lunenschloss. He said he did not realize Roosevelt street would be permanently closed and a permanent football field would be made on park land.

No Addition Planned
Mann also said the proposal to get more land for school use had nothing to do with building an addition to Roosevelt school. In fact, he said, there is no intention of adding additional classrooms.

Ald. Donald Mueller last week advocated giving up the park land for school purposes to pave the way for building expansion at the school. Lunenschloss had requested the land partly as a safety factor, Mann said. Several boys have received broken bones that might have been caused by hardness of the present football field, he continued. If the field could be kept strictly for football the turf would have a chance to develop and injuries might be reduced, he contended.

Questions Proposal
"I understand the problem," said Mrs. Myrl Davis, "but I wonder if we're justified in chipping away at park land for other purposes."

The board agreed to invite Lunenschloss to explain the proposal in detail at the next meeting before a recommendation is made for a meeting with the city council and park board.

Discussion also indicated it might be necessary to curtail city recreation department activities at the field because of safety problem. When the football field is used as a baseball field in the summer the ground becomes too hard for football and new seeding can't get a good start. Part of the field is blocked off by snow fence at the present time, according to Director of Business Affairs William R. Knuth. (The football field was seeded and fenced all of last summer. The baseball fields were not used.)

Other Action
In other action, the board authorized Knuth to contract with Langstadt's, Inc., Appleton, to supply electric light bulbs and lamps for the coming year. Knuth said the contract called for about $1,500 in purchases. Langstadt's offered 36 per cent discount from the list price on orders of $300 or more and 34 per cent discount on amounts less than one carton.

Knuth was authorized to hire an additional carpenter on a full-time basis. He explained the painting program at the schools is about up to date and some money originally budgeted for part-time painting help would be used to pay the carpenter.

The board had postponed action on the request last week until Mann had a chance to check further into the need. He agreed the additional carpenter was needed.

Two Resignations
The board approved hiring a new biology teacher and accepted the resignations of John

Lauds Wisconsin for Taming Rivers to Work for Man

Delavan — Wisconsin's plentiful supply of water may be its best selling point in the keen competition between states for new industries, William E. Schubert, Appleton, vice-president and general manager of the Wisconsin Power and Light company, told delegates to the annual convention of the Wisconsin Utilities association's Rasmussen, an elementary teacher at Jefferson school and Mrs. Arlene Nold, a nurse at the high school. Mann said Rasmussen was moving to California and Mrs. Nold was leaving because her husband was being transferred to Detroit.

Mann reported school principals and other administrators will have a separate committee to meet with the board on administrator's salaries in the future. The welfare committee of the Appleton Education association meets with the board on salary schedules for all other teachers.

Mrs. Davis and Edward V. Krueger reported on the national school board's association convention they attended in Miami Beach, Fla., in April. Discussion was primarily on changes in schools recommended by Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard university and former ambassador to Germany. "Water may be the means for Wisconsin to provide jobs for its new citizens and to broaden its tax base," Schubert said in referring to the state's position on two of the great lakes, the 9,000 to 10,000 smaller bodies of water, and hundreds of rivers. "Wisconsin, compared with the other 47 states, has more than its share of water, the increased use of which by industries and individuals makes it a valuable factor when planning expansions."

The U. S. Geological service estimates that Wisconsin stream flow averaged, during the last 10 years, about 19 billion gallons per day during months of peak usage. That is 50 times the present surface water use and 27 times the present total water use.

Taming Rivers

"We in Wisconsin can be proud of the progress we have made by ourselves in taming our principal rivers to work for us, and in reforesting our cutover lands. Because, most of the land that forms our watersheds—the land that is the habitat for wildlife and supports our trees and food crops—is owned by individuals and corporations, as opposed to public ownership."

Referring to efforts being made to correct pollution and to conserve forests and water, Schubert said Wisconsin property owners—both individual and corporate—are in increasing numbers learning to accept their moral responsibilities to the land, to other citizens, and to future citizens.

Congressman John Byrnes, Green Bay, also spoke Monday and said he was convinced government expenditures will not be reduced by some gimmick, but only when congress itself makes a frontal attack on the spending. Otherwise, he said, taxes will continue at a high rate. He declared that only in cases of "extreme emergency" should congress consider burdening future generations with additional public debt.

Kiwanis Hears Civil Defense Coordinator

Andrew Schiltz
Tells of Organization
At Little Chute

Little Chute — Work in organizing Civil Defense units in Outagamie county was told to the Little Chute Kiwanis club by Andrew Schiltz, county coordinator, at McCabe's restaurant Monday night.

Schiltz touched on highlights of his work explaining he assists CD directors in setting up a program in their community.

The county coordinator explained the facilities that are available in the county at the present time and what has to be done in case of an emergency. Schiltz pointed out that the emergency does not only mean something in the time of war but also a natural disaster.

Radioactive fallout and its dangers were discussed by Schiltz. He said "radioactivity is of the most concern in an atomic attack."

"About one-third of the population of this country would die in an atomic war," Schiltz said, "and it is most important that all citizens know what to do in case of an atomic attack."

Schiltz showed two films on CD organization and functions.

County Democrats Pick Convention Delegates

Outagamie Representatives Instructed To Vote Against Any Endorsement Rule

Outagamie county Democrats Monday night named 63 delegates to the party's state convention in La Crosse June 13 to 15 and instructed them to vote against any proposals allowing party endorsement of candidates.

The anti-endorsement motion was made by John Denigan, Little Chute. Opposition came from William Riker, Appleton, who said endorsement protects a party against unfit candidates and promotes interest in the convention.

The Democrats defeated a Denigan motion to delete from the party's minutes a resolution passed at the last meeting encouraging Milo Singler, Shiocton, and John Reynolds, Green Bay, to run for Eighth district congressman and state attorney general respectively.

Rep. John W. Byrnes came under fire. Denigan said the congressman had not introduced a single piece of legislation in his tenure in congress. Singler, Democratic candidate for Byrnes' post, charged that "the one-party press has not used a single news release of mine calling attention to Byrnes' record."

Similar releases by Republican leaders would have been used, Singler asserted. "The press has become an appendage of the Republican party... they're subsidized and have a duty to the public to print both sides," he declared.

Appleton Democrats selected to attend the convention were: Mrs. Lore Kern, Mrs. Alois Liechten, Richard Zingsheim, Mrs. Louis Wise, Mrs. Barbara Kobussen, Mr. and Mrs. John Rasmussen, Dr. and Mrs. Marvin Kagen, Walter Heil, Miss Constance Crowe, Samuel Sigman, Mrs. Carroll Hansen, Michael Hart, Lester Balliet, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dorsey, Mrs. Delia Spang, Gil Myse, John Bauer, Henry Barz, Robert Schlieve, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rusch, Mrs. Pay Myse, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Potter and Maurice Huhn.

Delegates from Kaukauna are L. F. Nelson, Mrs. Katherine Sullivan, Mrs. Francis Grogan, Mrs. Elizabeth Grogan, Joseph Promer, John Corcoran, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reichel, Mr. and Mrs. William Glas-troveries with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000 Reichel.

Kimberly delegates are Mr. Creek; Harold Beresford, town and Mrs. Sylvester Lenz, Wilbur Strick and Richard Waldhart.

Shiocton delegates are Mr. as alternates were Dr. William and Mrs. Milo Singler, Ralph Gehring, Donald Johnson, Clyde Riker, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Nagel and Earl Carlson.

New London Democrats named as delegates were Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Martin.

Other delegates are Gustave men, both of Kimberly: Harry Keller, town of Grand Chute; Van Dyke, John Esler and Carl Postel, John Hintzke and John Van Asten, all of Kaukauna; George Roioff, all of Maplekauna; and Mr. and Mrs. Wil-Creek; Frank Flanagan, Bearbert Brick, Black Creek.

Lawrence Says:

Congress May Call 'Private' U. S. Diplomats

Will Study Law on Individual Dealings With Other Nations

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Citizens of the United States who on their own promote international conferences of private individuals from other countries or engage in discussions about them, written or oral, with foreign ambassadors, in order through such conferences to influence the policies of foreign governments in disputes with this country or to defeat the measures of the United States, may find themselves on the witness stand before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

For the committee has a right to determine for itself whether the present law forbidding such activities shall be expanded and made more stringent.

Just the other day a prominent industrialist was subpoenaed by the house committee, and it was erroneously assumed in some quarters that he was being called in merely to reproach him for views he had expressed in criticism of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It was indignantly asserted by some critics that the committee has no right to interfere with freedom of speech.

But it turns out that what the house committee has a right to investigate and what it is interested now in finding out is whether present laws shall be amended to prevent the carrying on of correspondence or intercourse between American citizens and foreign governments where the object may be to influence the action of the United States government in its disputes with other governments.

Exact Text

The exact text of what is known as the Logan act — originally passed in 1798 but reaffirmed in the U.S. Code of Statutes in 1948 — is as follows: "Any citizen of the United States, wherever he may be, or any officer or agent thereof, with intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government or of any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States, or to defeat the measures of the United States, shall be fined not more than $5,000."

Kimberly delegates are Mr. Creek; Harold Beresford, town and Mrs. Sylvester Lenz, Wilbur Strick and Richard Waldhart.

Shiocton delegates are Mr. as alternates were Dr. William and Mrs. Milo Singler, Ralph Gehring, Donald Johnson, Clyde Riker, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Nagel and Earl Carlson.

New London Democrats named as delegates were Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Martin.

Other delegates are Gustave men, both of Kimberly: Harry Keller, town of Grand Chute; Van Dyke, John Esler and Carl Postel, John Hintzke and John Van Asten, all of Kaukauna; George Roioff, all of Maplekauna; and Mr. and Mrs. Wil-Creek; Frank Flanagan, Bearbert Brick, Black Creek.

or imprisoned not more than three years, or both." To what extent may an American citizen invite to his home a representative of a foreign government with which the United States has a dispute and, with several persons in the business world in attendance, speak at such a function in contradiction of the policies of his own government? The industrialist who did so recently is not a communist nor identified in any way with communist organizations but, under the terms of the existing law, it may pass legislation to meet the government's representatives denounce his own government's policies? If he may do so — and there is no clear-cut definition as yet of what is or is not permissible under the present statute — then is it advisable for congress to amend the law and recite specifically the activities which will hereafter be considered un-American and hence prohibited? Plainly the congress has a right to seek to inform itself so, refuse to join military forces. The Loan Act doesn't infringe "intercourse" with foreign gov-

These facilities, supporting the efforts of a highly skilled and aggressive organization, form the basis of our optimism for the future of both Marathon and Canco."

"We at American Can company are proud to have the Marathon name, and all the traditions for which it stands, associated with us. We believe the joint efforts of the two organizations will be mutually rewarding and we look forward with confidence to continued sound future growth for the Marathon operations."

Howard Suffers Concussion

Struck by Pitch As Bluejays Lose To DavSox, 6-3

By the Associated Press
The three winning teams in Monday night's Three-I league got full-route performances from their pitchers.

One of these was Davenport's Gary Peters, a newcomer who turned back Green Bay with a 6-hitter, 6-3. He also struck out 12 batters for the league-leaders.

Scores in 8th

Marring the effort was pitch that struck Frank Howard. Green Bay home run hit in the head in the third inning. Howard was taken to a Davenport hospital where it was found he had a concussion.

Davenport scored its winning runs in the eighth on Felix Guzman's 2-run single and a sacrifice fly.

Burlington's Cliff Anderson and Cedar Rapids' Luis DeLeon were the other pitchers turning in route-losing jobs.

DeLeon scattered eight hits in a 4-2 conquest of Rochester. Johnny Stratton and Horace Garner homered in the fourth. Bill Moss' run - scoring single gave the Raiders a 3-2 lead in the fifth and they added another run in the eighth on two singles and a freak double by Bob Knoop on a ball that was popped up only 10 feet from the plate but fell safely.

Executive Advocates Return to High Ideals

Dickinson Exhorts Businessmen to Couple
Alger Examples With Capitalist System

Menasha — A Milwaukee business executive Monday night discarded a plea from businessmen for a new formula to success, and replaced it with an appeal to return, as he put it, "to the ideals of Horatio Alger."

John Dickinson, vice president and sales director of the Albert H. Weinbrenner Shoe company, addressed more than 200 members of the Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce at the body's 18th annual meeting at the Elks club here.

The speaker underlined the 19th century author's ideals of hard work, honesty, integrity and personal sacrifice, and urged coupling of these with a patriotic devotion to the American system of free competition and capitalism.

"Too many people shrink from the free enterprise system as something they think unholy. Too many businessmen decline to admit that they went into business primarily to make money," Dickinson said.

By Products of System "But the rough and tumble competition and incentive of profits provide better things for more people," he said. He said that social gains and higher living standards are byproducts of the free enterprise system.

"What's wrong with Alger's ideals?" Dickinson demanded. He said he was appalled to note that a friend of his told a union convention that Alger was out of step with these times and had simply died of old age.

Business is an attitude, the speaker told the chamber members. The man who found two dollars once when he was looking at the ground and kept his eyes on the ground ever after lost everything that was worth living for.

The one who looks ahead, however, with the ideals of success and its approaches in mind eventually becomes a true success, he said. "Business is more than brick and mortar and stone if you do something for it."

Dickinson told the businessmen that a recent public opinion poll showed 47 per cent of the people credit union leaders with the present standard of living in America. About 18 per cent credit government leaders' and only another 18 per cent thank business leaders.

High School Poll In another poll, 48 per cent of 1,280 high school seniors surveyed said that government planning and public works projects are the most important factors in business, and only 39 per cent credit the American profit system. Two-thirds of the students polled said a worker should not do his best, but only do the average job, Dickinson said.

"As long as one student or one employee feels this way, we have failed fundamentally as American businessmen," Dickinson told the Chamber.

Put Q on County System Again, Town Requests

Road Is S. Park Between Cecil and Lakeview School

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau

Oshkosh — The town of Neenah board this morning requested that Winnebago county join to the county trunk system South Park avenue between Cecil street in Neenah and Lakeview school, where it intersects county trunk A.

This road formerly was known as county trunk Q but, surfacing project which would be taken off the county trunk cut the county's share from $9, system several years ago. The $400 to $8,090.

Neenah town board is asking that it again be made a county trunk.

Supv. Laurel Heaney said the road is in good condition and is a major artery leading to the city of Neenah through a well populated area. The request was referred to the highway committee.

Traffic on County trunk GG between Highway 110 and County trunk A is not sufficient to make that road an extension of Highway 110, the state highway commission informed the county. The sheriff and coroner's committee of the board suggested it be made a state highway along with several other suggestions being reviewed by the state commission and the county highway committee.

The city of Neenah informed the county board of the change in the North Lake street known as county trunk Q but, surfacing project which would be taken off the county trunk cut the county's share from $9, system several years ago. The $400 to $8,090.

Church Must Talk on Issues, Pastor Says

Rev. T. Parry Jones
Speaks to Combined
Personnel Groups

Neenah — The church must stand alone and speak out on the economic and social problems, modern history as it is being made today and raise a voice against war, the Rev. T. Parry Jones, pastor of the First Methodist church of Sheboygan told the combined Neenah-Menasha and Appleton Personnel associations at their dinner meeting at the Valley Inn Monday night.

"The church has to stand alone but never will as long as people in it don't want to rock the boat. Jesus talked about economics more than about prayer, the Kingdom of God, sin or the church."

"But people say, 'Don't talk about economics in the church but preach the gospel.' when they don't know what the gospel means."

"The poor church must blend itself into the community and become one with the service club, the country club or the lodge and it becomes lost," Dr. Jones told the personnel associations.

"Ignorant of Function" Why must the church stand alone, he asked. One reason he gave was because the people were ignorant of the main function of the church. "It should hold up the idealistic situation to all people."

"It is not what you are but what you can become that matters. The church must always lift up that standard. If it says divorce is wrong and that war is wrong, it is not being narrow minded but is setting up that standard."

"The church must always say that which seems impossible to you. It must always hold up that ideal. It must always stand above you and that is why it must stand alone," Dr. Jones emphasized.

"It stands alone also because it has several things to give that you can't find anywhere else but which the congregation doesn't want." He cited these as being the Bible, "a best seller but most neglected book which we haven't been taught how to read," prayer, which he said there is nothing that is more abused than prayer, and worship, which we shouldn't be afraid to do.

The church, he said, is the most honored but the most neglected part of our institutional life. It stands alone because the men and women belonging to it never understood it or its place in the community.

Kohler Strike Comments During his talk to the joint meeting, he touched upon the Kohler strike. At the beginning of the strike the sentiment of the community was with the strikers, but that disappeared within a half year because of the conduct of the people brought in from the outside by the union, Dr. Jones mentioned.

"They brought in a kind of people for whom you could have no respect, men of nastiness who would always scowl at you and never answer to a 'Good morning.' They put on a program of intimidation and many wilted under it. They kept up a nuisance value."

He told of abuses to the clergy, threats made against them, because of their opposition to the granting of a tavern license to a couple with a long record of convictions and of calling the clergy in their union paper as "people without backbone, and with a yellow streak down their middle."

Then they came to us and asked for our help, he pointed out. The church must stand alone in the community and point to what is right, the Sheboygan pastor stressed.

Decoration Day Outings Call for Tasty 'Twin City' Beverages

Menasha — Twin City Beverages will be popular drinks over Decoration day as area people head for picnic outings and backyard barbecues. Local grocers and beer depots are now stocked with the tangy beverages in anticipation of the demand. Available in the king-size bottles are six popular Twin City flavors: Orange, root beer, cream soda, cherry, black cherry and grape. Twelve flavors are available in the 6-ounce and quart sizes including cherry, lime, cream, punch, strawberry, orange, root beer, grape, lemon sour, white soda, ginger ale, black cherry and sparkling water. Both adults and children appreciate the high-quality goodness of Twin City beverages. They are perfectly carbonated and flavored "just right." Only the purest sugars and concentrated flavors are used in the making of the beverages. All summer long, area people would be wise to put Twin City Beverages on their shopping lists for picnics and summer outings. A couple convenient 6-packs or quart bottles should be in the refrigerator at all times, too. The beverages are products of the Twin City Bottling Co., 120 Water street, Menasha.

Shown Above is Hoerning Concrete Products Co., located at 608 Konemac Street, Menasha. The company manufactures a complete line of high-quality concrete blocks, light-weight cinder and slag block, brick, lintel sills and copings. Fox Citians are urged to call the firm now if they plan on using Split-Rock in their home in 1958. The company is now registering jobs in advance of the actual building start.

Hospital Helpers Unite Hands For Benefit of Appleton Memorial

Riverview Country club was the site of a "guest-day" bridge and tea Monday afternoon when scores of Appleton Memorial hospital auxiliary members and friends gathered for an afternoon of socializing for the benefit of charity.

The tea was the latest in a series of projects carried on continuously by the auxiliary to assist the new hospital financially. Since formation of the unit in 1954, the auxiliary has aimed at a twofold goal: to assist wherever volunteer service can be utilized and to raise money to help finance construction and operation of the hospital.

Nearly 700 women belong to the organization and are working at whittling the two pledges of $50,000 each that have been promised the hospital by the organization. At the time of the hospital opening in mid February, $41,000 had been raised toward payment of the pledges.

Various Fund-Raisers
The hospital helpers have conceived a variety of means to gild their coffers: annual projects include a week-long thrift sale each fall and a Christmas holiday bazaar at which handmade items fashioned by auxiliary members and other interested citizens are sold.

The women also have instituted a continuing series of coffee hours, have staged bridge marathons, handled advanced sale of home show tickets, sell magazine subscriptions and currently are promoting advertising sales for the June Dairyama of the Northside Advancement association.

Individually too, members have done their bit: some needling bazaar articles, while others have contributed monies from do-it-yourself handwork such as fashioning bracelets, bridge tallies and aprons. Giving an assist too, have been donations from women's church and civic groups — all put toward payment of the $1,000 pledge.

Donate Women-Hours
But not all donations have been of the dollar and cents; of more importance perhaps, to the hospital have been the woman-hours of service. From such early activities as the sewing of drapes for the hospital, the women have taken care of the numerous little things that change a hospital from a dehumanized stone and steel building to a comfortable haven of health.

Daily, 10 auxiliary members check in at the hospital on Meade street where they don cheerful pink smocks. Throughout the day they are on hand to guide visitors to the correct room and to staff the gift shop where small items for patients may be selected. Patients feel their influence in other ways, for the auxiliary maintains a book and gift cart for their use and operates a music library.

Cite Volunteer Helpers
Members' service is recognized yearly at the auxiliary's annual meeting when pins are conferred for volunteer work. Women eligible for the honor award must complete 100 hours of work within the year.

Counting toward service pins are hours spent at the hospital, making bazaar articles, attending committee meetings, working on telephone commit-

Since the Opening of the New Appleton Memorial hospital in mid-February, members of Appleton Memorial hospital auxiliary have checked in daily at the new building to lend their volunteer efforts where needed. In Good Taste Thank You Note Only Obligation

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: There seems to be a disagreement about the necessity for taking presents to one's hostess when going to spend a weekend at her house. Some say a present is necessary; others say no. So, to get this straight, will you please tell us just what is customary—according to etiquette among well-mannered guests.

Answer: Etiquette does not exact that anyone take a gift to his (or her) hostess or even that anything be sent afterwards—except a thank-you note after having stayed in her house for a night or longer. On the other hand, to take a box of candy is a courteous gesture that many people like to make. Where there are children guests often bring them toys. They may be no more than trifles, but children are always so pleased with a present—and this naturally pleases their mother, too.

Courtesy To Priest
Dear Mrs. Post: Several days ago I went to see a friend in the hospital. While I was there her parish priest came in to visit her. I did not get up when he came in but remained seated at her bedside. My friend told me after he had gone that I should have stood up when he approached the bed. Will you please tell me if I was wrong not to get up?

Answer: Strictly according to the rules you were not wrong, but it would have been courteous for you to have gotten up out of respect for his cloth.

Menu Cards
Dear Mrs. Post: We have a question we would like settled—namely, is it proper to have engraved menu cards at a wedding. There is no choice of food—it is just a menu mentioning the food to be served.

Answer: At a small wedding engraved menu cards would seem pretentious, but they would be proper at a large one where the guests at the reception are seated at numerous tables.

Students, Faculty to Travel To Europe, Mexico and Africa

Foreign travel to two continents are included in the summer plans of 20 Lawrence college faculty and students.

Eleven are Europe-bound in June, two will go to Africa, another two to Mexico, and five men, who will take a year off from their college studies to travel in Europe, will leave in the fall.

Among the summer tourist invasion of Europe will be Professor and Mrs. Carl P. Wellman and their infant son, Timothy, who will visit family and friends in England; Mrs. Elton Rice, secretary of the conservatory, who will also visit her family in York; Professor James C. Stewart, who is headed for a vacation in the British Isles and France; and Mrs. Lewis Henderson Gordon, Jr., the former Jean Curtis, head resident of Colman hall, who will honeymoon on a yawl in Mediterranean waters.

No Coed Tour
Students who are planning to travel include James Beck, Appleton; Charles Scruggs, Chicago, Ill.; David Mulford, Rockford, Ill.; Russell Clapp, New York City; William Bast, Menomonee Falls, and John Thomas Hurvis, Milwaukee, who are all headed for the continent.

There will be no Lawrence coed tour to Europe this summer.

For the past five seasons such a trip has been headed by Marguerite Schumann, director of publicity, who has indicated that after a year's vacation the enterprise will begin again in 1959.

Travel to Europe has become fairly commonplace for college students, but this year, Lawrence will push their frontiers as far as South Africa. Mary Allen, Meriden, Conn., will sail by freighter from New York to Cape Town. She and her family will visit relatives in the Union of South Africa, among them her aunt who founded Wellington college, cousins in the state department and relatives in Pretoria. They will travel by car in South Africa.

Plan Mexican Study
Also off to the Dark Continent is Anthony Bok, Camden, Me., who will fly on June 13 from New York to London, and thence to Johannesburg, South Africa. He will spend two months with cousins in the Union of South Africa, Rhodesia, and Portuguese East Africa. Returning by air at the end of the summer, he will stop at the Brussels fair for several days, where he will meet Lawrencean Tom Hurvis.

Two Lawrence coeds plan to spend the summer in Mexico, studying at the University of Guadalajara, and living with a Mexican family. Leaving by bus from Chicago, but returning by air at the end of the summer are Nancy Oetting, Riverside, Ill., and Corrine Niemi, Arlington Heights, Ill. They plan to include trips to Mexico City and Acapulco in their itinerary.

Professor and Mrs. Wellman will leave June 13 by boat from Montreal to visit Mrs. Wellman's parents at St. Ives near Cambridge, England. Professor Wellman will return at the end of the summer, but Mrs. Wellman will stay on into October.

Postponed Honeymoon
Mrs. Rice will fly on Scandinavian Air Lines from New York on July 4 to Prestwick, Scotland, for a visit with her parents in York. She will be accompanied by her sister, Clara Atkin, 413 S. Walnut street, and will return in August.

Professor Stewart sails June 5 from Montreal, and will return in September by air. He will concentrate on the British Isles and the Edinburgh festival, with a short trip across the channel to France and the Brussels fair.

Mrs. Gordon, who married on April 1, and who has continued to reside in Colman hall with her husband, will fly on June 17 from New York to Glasgow for a postponed honeymoon. After three weeks in Scotland, they will join a sailing party on the Costa Brava in Spain, to cruise in French, Italian and possibly North African waters. They will return August 19 to make their home in Minneapolis, Minn., where she will be on the dean of women's staff at Hamline university.

Trip Via Bike
James Beck will fly from Montreal to Paris on June 15, to bicycle through France, England, Italy and Germany. He will attend the International Youth Festival at Avignon, France, and visit friends, returning Sept. 12.

Bicycling together through the principal countries of Western Europe will be Charles Scruggs and David Mulford. They fly from New York to Glasgow, and start their pedalling there. Among their stops will be a visit with David Hathaway, Lawrence alumnus studying on a Fulbright in the British Isles, and a time with Scruggs' brother who is in military service in the Black Forest of Bavaria.

Northern European countries are the destination of Russell Clapp and William Bast, who emplane on June 16, and return the end of July. They will rent a car on the continent, and include the Stratford festival and the Brussels fair in their itinerary. They will visit at the home of Sir Desmond Morton outside of London as well.

Year of Sight Seeing
Study in Spain is in the summer plan of John Thomas Hurvis, who will fly to Madrid on June 23 for summer school at the University of Madrid. He will tour Western Europe by car, and will meet Tony Bok at the Brussels fair at the end of the vacation.

A year in Europe is the plan of Joseph Baldwin, Milwaukee; Leonard Hall, Brookfield, Ill.; Robert Blust, Hinsdale, Ill.; Robert Meek, 1501 Lutz drive; and Lynn Williams III, Winnetka, Ill. They plan to sail on October 1, for a winter on your continent, and possibly Greece and North Africa. They will return May 12, 1959.

Marjorie Lord, 35, Who Plays the wife on the Danny Thomas TV show, and Randolph Hale, 47, San Francisco stage producer, were wed Monday in North Hollywood. The couple will honeymoon in Europe. (AP Wirephoto)

Culbertson on Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

On the surface, it would seem that nothing could be easier than defeating the four-spade contract in the following deal, but there are definite pitfalls for the defenders in such cases, as is attested by the fact in an eight-table duplicate game, the four-spade contract was beaten at only one table! West, dealer.

North-South vulnerable.
NORTH
S-8 6 3
H-9 4 3
D-Q 10 5
C-A K J 9
WEST
S-J 9 7 2

SOUTH

D-A 9 7
C-Q 5

After passes by West and North, some East players preempted with three hearts, others with four hearts, but in every case South ended up declarer at a four-spade contract. Some players doubled; others didn't.

The opening lead was invariably the singleton heart, and all Easts collected the ace and king. That, however, was the only bit of uniformity in the deal.

Three Wests signalled for a diamond shift by playing the jack of that suit on the second heart trick, but when their partners amiably accepted the suggestion and switched to a diamond at Trick 3, the outcome was not healthy for the defense! The three declarers, with one mind, went right up with the diamond ace, cashed the three top trumps, and then led the queen and five of clubs. They pitched one diamond on the third round of clubs while West had to follow suit, and the other losing diamond on the fourth round—West could ruff, if he chose, with the high trump.

At four other tables the West players made the correct discard of a club on the second round of hearts—but to no avail. Their partners continued with the heart jack, obviously feeling that this might promote an extra trump trick for West, but it didn't work out that way. These four declarers ruffed low, and it didn't matter whether or not West overruffed—the defense could take only two hearts and one trump.

The only defensive victory was scored by the pair that timed the play exactly right. West got rid of a club on the second heart—a vital move—and East then shifted to a diamond—also vital. Thus, the declarer at this table could not avoid the loss of two hearts, one trump and one diamond. Try it.

Graduation an Occasion For That Special Gift

BY ANGELO PATRI

Graduation from any school calls for a celebration and gifts. The younger the graduate the more marked the celebration.

Gifts make any celebration delightful to the recipient. They make the occasion for the one who is honored and so take on great importance, greater often than any material values they represent.

Because of this importance to the graduate his gifts should be selected with an eye to his tastes, wants, and last of all, his needs. His elders are likely to think of his needs first and his tastes and wants a long way after.

Choose Appealing Gift

Gifts ought not to be matter-of-fact things that come under the head of needs like clothes, shoes, sweaters. The graduate knows he would get them no matter what came or went. Graduation being something special in his life ought to be new formal for that girl and a marked with something just telescope for that boy? They'll watch, a camera, the sports equipment he has been eyeing in the shop window for months. That's the luxuries of life that are rewarding, inspiring and uplifting. It's the icing on the cake that arouses the appetite. That quality in the graduation gift is what will lift the graduate's spirit to the heights. The memory of the thrill it brought might be just what is needed to push the graduate of today on to becoming the graduate of another day. Praise, gifts, celebrations do leave a good taste in the mouth and an appetite for more of the same.

In selecting such gifts older people have to remember that it is for the boy or the girl, in question, and not for themselves. The gift that appeals to a young person may not be what the tastes and ambitions of age are a far cry from those of youth. It is youth that must be served here so we need color, newness, fitness and quality in the things selected.

It is useless to give a girl who adores dancing a set of shoes, sweaters. The graduate knows he would get them no matter what came or went. Graduation being something special in his life ought to be new formal for that girl and a marked with something just telescope for that boy? They'll watch, a camera, the sports equipment he has been eyeing in the shop window for months. That's the luxuries of life that are rewarding, inspiring and uplifting. It's the icing on the cake that arouses the appetite. That quality in the graduation

PLAY with miniature cars, animals, cowboys, etc., will be even more fascinating with some unusual "props." A youngster's imagination can turn potatoes into desert rocks or mountains, an ice-cube tray into stalls, twigs stuck in clay into towering trees, a bit of red cellophane into a flickering campfire. Scouts Name New Officers

Officers were elected recently by members of Girl Scout troop 158 of St. Therese school. Named president was Susan Sajdak. Donna Eastman was named vice president; Judith Haase will serve as secretary. The group named Joyce Doerfler treasurer.

Since the meeting was the last of the season, the newly appointed officers will assume their duties in the fall. Plans were made concerning badge work throughout the summer and next year.

Troop leaders Mrs. Norbert Tilly and Mrs. Jerome Eastman were presented gifts.

Brownie troop 25 of Stephen Foster school held a recent investiture service at which mothers of members were guests. Refreshments were served by the Brownies. The last meeting of the season was held Monday in the school gymnasium and plans were made for a trip to Camp Winnecomac, Kaukauna, on June 9.

Twenty-five Brownies were invested into troop 302 of Franklin school at a ceremony held Monday afternoon in the school auditorium.

For the program, the girls dramatized the Brownie story. Niki Graham, Rinda Pardee, and Linda Howey were narrators. Following the skit refreshments were served. Mrs. Leonard Johnson is troop leader, assisted by Mrs. John N. Braun and Mrs. John A. Baubs, Jr. On the troop committee are Mrs. Robert Graham, chairman, Mrs. Alvin Pardee, Jr., Mrs. Keith M. Giese, Mrs. H. J. Howey, and Mrs. Jack Skjoldager.

Movie Fan Wife Views Husband, Other Woman, Besides Picture

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I don't know where to turn. The other night my husband said he had to work late and wouldn't be home for supper. My married daughter and I agreed to eat at a downtown cafeteria and take in a movie.

Every Thursday night a certain theater gives away prizes to those holding lucky numbers. When the number was called for the set of dishes who do you think won it? My husband's wife was sitting with a brunette woman and the two of them looked for all the world as if they were married. I almost had a heart attack. The woman went to the stage to accept the dishes. My husband slumped down in his seat but I saw him very well decided to let you settle it.

I haven't said a word to him about this. I'm a nervous wreck I can't eat or sleep. Where shall I begin?—IN A DAZE

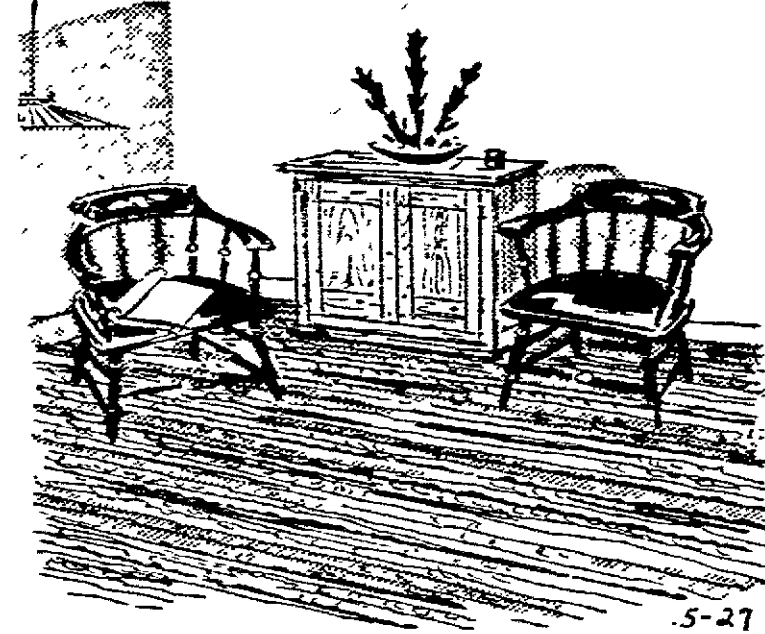

You could begin by asking him what he did with the dishes he won at the theater. Pretending that all is well while you go quietly to pieces will net you nothing but high blood pressure. Get this thing out in the open and clear the air. If he has an explanation you ought to hear it.

In the meantime, ask your doctor for medication to calm your nerves. And get a little extra for your husband. When he learns you were in the theater to witness his stroke of good fortune, he'll probably need a tranquilizer.

DEAR ANN: Do I owe the judge an apology? My wife

Color Mix—and Sparks New Color Scheme Ideas

No matter how much concern there is about wearing qualities, it's how well a rug or carpet color schemes into the room that makes it seem the right buy. Luckily, mixtures of delightful room scheme colors that are so popular now are favorites for practical rugs. Like this room size rug, in an old-time favorite hit-and-miss design which combines bright and gay colors in a calico-like brilliance.

This kind of color variety in the rug is as practical as its ability to reverse and its treatment by a soil-retarding process. It sparks one color scheme after the other. Color schemes can come and go while it wears on. One color in the rug may be emphasized at first, another when it's time for the new wall paint and furniture—the rug doesn't hold back the change of scene. (Rug by Waite.)

DEAR ANN: I'm a gal 17 with a terrific crush on my older brother's pal. He never shows up when I look glamorous and feminine. I'm always caught in jeans and barefoot, with my hair in rags and no make-up.

My brother hasn't the faintest idea I'm interested in his buddy. If he knew he's razz me to death and I'd just die. I'm afraid I don't stand a chance, with my dream man because he'll always think of me as the freckle-faced kid sister no matter how old I get. How can I make him notice that I'm a woman without making a pest of myself?—KID SIS

Make yourself scarce when the heart-throb shows up. In other words, be conspicuous by your absence. If you can successfully dodge this fellow for several weeks, then one day casually pop into sight (sans bubble gum) wearing a dress, and heels (with a copy of Thomas Wolfe under your arm) it might stir in him a fresh awareness.

The shock treatment is the only effective approach for these guys who are so accustomed to seeing the kid sister hanging around that they don't see her at all.

Rain Falls, but Mostly in Northwest

Rain fell in Wisconsin Monday night, but again most of it was in the northwestern area. Appleton had only .02 of an inch.

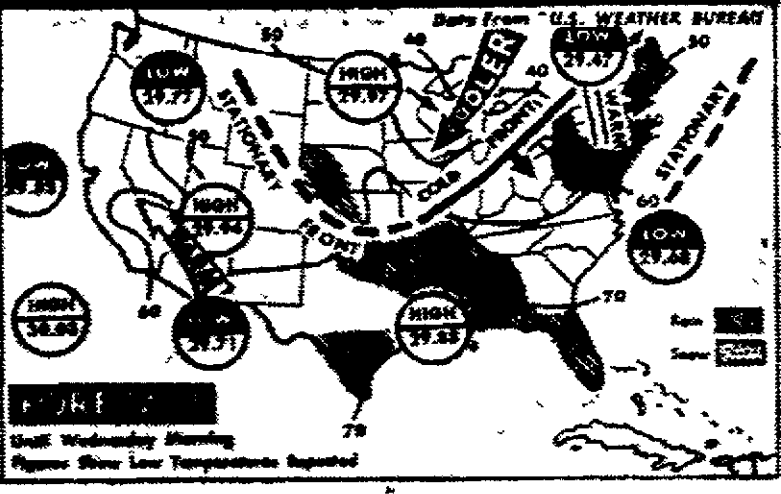

Superior recorded the largest amount—.29 of an inch. Grantsburg had .21, Eau Claire .19, and Wausau .18. So far this month, the northwestern part of the state has had about 2 1/2 inches of rain while the southeastern part is experiencing one of the driest Mays on record.

In Milwaukee a rainfall the first 26 days of the month produced a total of only .19 of an inch. That equals the previous low for the same period in 1871. Appleton has had 1.37 inches in May.

Warmer weather moved into the state Monday night, along with cloudy moist conditions, but lower temperatures were expected to overspread the western area today and the entire state tonight.

Appleton had a high of 68 Monday and an overnight low of 56. The temperature at 10.45 this morning had climbed to a warm 72, with the wind from the southeast at 14 miles an hour and the barometric pressure at 29.8 inches.

The state forecast calls for partly cloudy today becoming mostly fair tonight and Wednesday with little change in temperature. The high today will be mostly in the 70s and the 60s in the north and the low tonight will range from the 30s north to the mid 40s south. The outlook for Thursday is for fair and warmer.

Scattered Showers or Thunderstorms are forecast tonight for New England, the middle Atlantic states, the Gulf coast, the middle and lower Mississippi valley and the central plains. It will be cooler in the eastern part of the central plains and in the upper and middle Mississippi valley. (AP Wirephoto)

Charge Nurse Killed Baby, Kept Body for 11 Years

New Boston, Texas.—A former army nurse was held for murder today in the death of a baby whose body was said to have been kept in a trunk for 11 years.

Sheriff W. J. Watlington of neighboring Texarkana, Texas, lodged a murder charge late Sunday against auburn-haired Mrs. Rose Powers, 46.

The sheriff quoted the tall, comely nurse as telling officers she bore the child illegitimately 11 years ago while living alone in a house trailer near Augusta, Ga.

He said her only explanation, sheriff told newsmen.

West Coast Man Dies In State Accident

Beauty Sachet Mist Adds Personality Touch

By Marian Matthews

When you plan your beauty routine surround yourself with fragrance in your home. Extend it to dresser draws, bed linens, hangers.

Lavender, as romantic as one of Shakespeare's ladies, is easy to spray into closets, bureau drawers or wherever you feel the fragrances will benefit the atmosphere, clear the air in a room you haven't used all winter or the attic you plan to make ready for additional living space.

Hold your mist from 12 to 15 inches away from items such as lingerie or fresh linens but if you're using it for clearing the air in a room then spray it upward into the air. You would use this same method when doing the linen closet. A fine mist will not stain furnishings. Your clothes are safe, too, when you use an exceptionally fine mist of cologne or perfume.

This feminine touch to your living area points up your own personality, and adds a feeling of luxury.

Tuck sachet pillows into drawers, tie sachets with ribbons for hangers that hold your spring tweeds and silks. Spray your favorite cologne into gloves and shoes. Learn the fun of having your preferred fragrances about you all the time.

Three Boys Win Eagle Scout Awards

Robert Borsum, Richard Ottman and James Ramaker, members of Boy Scout Troop 2, First Methodist church, received Eagle Scout awards in ceremonies Sunday.

The awards were made by Wallace Christensen, Valley Star Scout awards Harold Meiers received a life scout badge.

The Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton presented the God and Country award to Borsum. Ramaker also has earned the award and will receive it later from his own pastor.

First class scout pins were presented to Douglas Christie, gret about insisting on a joint trial with Spence, the trigger-man.

"I stuck with my buddy," said Oxendine. "We did the robbery together. We did Meiers, Thomas Stoeger, Peter Tilly, Howard Phillips, Fred Barkvan, Robert Bleck, Borsum, Ramaker and Ottman.

Pastor States God Overcomes All Man's Fears, People Can't Lose With Divine Help, Rev. Simon Asserts

There are great dangers in the world today but they are not overcome by making believe they are not there, the Rev. H. E. Simon, pastor of Faith Lutheran church, contended in his Sunday morning sermon. "We must face them," Rev. Simon asserted. "But we do not overcome them, either, by facing them in our own power. No matter what problem of life or death you bring or fear, you, with God, are the divine majority. With God you cannot lose. Too often, the minister went on, man forgets the Holy Spirit but this is the one which gives man faith, the one who keeps man in faith and the one who comes again and again in word and sacrament.

adults. We think of how especially young people hate to be alone, out of step, and how our Christian faith and its loyalty to Christ often demands that we be out of step with the world. But whatever the particular fear man holds, he can turn to God with it, the Rev. Mr. Simon continued. Powerful though the fears may be, he explained, there is One who is more powerful. "It is so also with this terrible thing, our sin, and its guilt and wages. On our own we would have no hope. But we are not alone. May God show us all, and especially you younger Christians, that we need not fear, though the earth be removed and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea," he stated.

Young Fears
Speaking of the terrors besetting the world, the pastor noted they strike especially at the outlook of young people. "Young people most of all find it hard to go against what the crowd does and so much of what the crowd does is not right," he stated. "We think of how young people have that old sinful nature inside and how strong its drive is, especially among young men."

Scout Executive Will Take Job In Southwest

Christensen Submits Resignation at Meeting in Appleton

Wallace Christensen, Valley Boy Scout council executive, submitted his resignation at an executive board and program planning conference in Appleton Monday night.

Christensen will become deputy executive in charge of the explorer program in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. His headquarters will be in Dallas, Texas. He will begin his new job sometime in July.

The position entails setting up and supervising the explorer program in the 3-state area. There are 36,642 explorers in the region.

Names Committee Council President Oliver Wordell appointed an 8-man committee to screen applicants for the council executive job.

Members of the committee are Guy McCorsion, Appleton chairman, Bruce Purdy, Appleton, Walter Swanson, Menasha, Paul West, Kaukauna, Robert Olen, Clintonville, Dexter Wolfe, Appleton, and John Whitney, Neenah.

Elected to the council executive board were Dr. T. A. Howells, Appleton, John Valente, Neenah, and Philip Beatty, Menasha.

In a report on the National council meeting in Chicago May 16 and 17, Wordell reviewed plans for Boy Scouts of America 50th anniversary in 1960. A special committee has been appointed to plan anniversary events.

Relationships group — James Buchanan, organization and extension; John Wollage and John Valente, leadership training; M. J. Schulenberg, public relations; and Eric Wussow, Boys Life.

Program group: Harold Adams, activities; Philip Beatty, advancement; Dr. T. A. Howells, health and safety; and Rudolph Vogt, exploring.

Y's Men Back Camp Purchase

YMCA Board Will Take Action on Proposal Thursday

The Appleton Y's Mens club Monday night agreed to underwrite purchase of a 253-acre camp site in Florence county.

if the YMCA board of directors agrees to buy the land.

The Y board will decide Thursday noon if it will purchase the land on Lake Sea Lion, near the Michigan border, about 150 miles from Appleton.

The YMCA now holds an option on the site. Purchase price is $4,500. The land has 1,500 feet of shoreline. The Pine river, a trout stream, runs through the west section.

The acreage is heavily wooded and undeveloped. There are no roads into it.

The Y's Mens board recommended the club underwrite the purchase if the YMCA decides to buy. The recommendation was unanimously approved.

Alfred Johnson, YMCA secretary, explained that if the land is purchased, it will be used as then went to the police station, a wilderness camp in the near where Craig was locked up for future. There probably will be his own protection. Craig admitted drinking, and told Judge into a residential camp with Schmiede that that just made buildings for ten years, he said, his troubles larger.

Tries to Leap From Bridge, Put On Probation

A 30-year-old man who attempted to jump off the S. Memorial drive bridge about 2 o'clock this morning was placed on probation to the state department of public welfare for a year by Municipal Judge Oscar J. Schmiede.

Garth Craig, 131 S. Oneida street, told Judge Schmiede that his troubles with money and a recent divorce drove him to attempt taking his own life. Craig was charged with disorderly conduct.

Two men found Craig as he was climbing over the bridge railing and took him to a minister. The minister and Craig is purchased, it will be used as then went to the police station, a wilderness camp in the near where Craig was locked up for future. There probably will be his own protection. Craig admitted drinking, and told Judge into a residential camp with Schmiede that that just made buildings for ten years, he said, his troubles larger.

Market Stays On Center

Wall Street Shows Indifference to Decision on Tax

New York — The stock market remained on dead center in moderate trading early this afternoon.

A hedge-podge of small gains and losses made a pretty even division among key stocks.

Agreement among spokesmen for both major parties on a no-tax-cut policy was major news but Wall Street has been fairly indifferent to this question.

Rails, resting after their rise Monday, showed minor fluctuations.

The market was again in a technical resistance area to further advance because it was near the 1958 highs where stock is available for sale. The continued rise in steel production and another copper price boost at the custom smelter level were bullish factors.

Lukens Steel, Goodyear and American Cyanamid were off about a point each while Union Carbide's loss was a bit more than that.

Otherwise it was virtually a featureless market.

U. S. government bonds were mixed.
